

Bringing Our Amherstburg Fallen ... Back Home

A book reading presented by Windsor's military historian and author Gene Lotz

Courtesy of the Royal Canadian Legion Fort Malden Branch 157

<https://www.facebook.com/RCLBranch157/> ~ (519)-736-4485

“We have their names on monuments, but there’s more to them – their lives lived. Who are they?”

The Anguish of War puts a face to the names of 1600 veterans (of all stripes) who lived in our neighbourhoods and attended our schools; were employed in offices, shops, factories and worked the family farms in communities throughout Windsor-Essex County.

From the Boer War to the Afghanistan War, each chapter speaks to the inherent values of courage and loyalty, patriotism, camaraderie, and sacrifice of our Veterans who filled the ranks defending the integrity of our Canadian democracy - to safeguarding those fundamental civil liberties that are often denied to so many the world over!

In honouring the privilege of remembrance, our Amherstburg fallen will not be faded.

Groesbeek Canadian War Cemetery
Groesbeek, Netherlands

Bény-sur-Mer Canadian War Cemetery
Normandy, France

THE ANGUISH OF WAR

<https://www.facebook.com/TheAnguishofWar/>

The Anguish of War book reading is FREE and open to the public
1:00 p.m., 2024

at the

Royal Canadian Legion Fort Madlen Branch 157
281 Dalhousie Street - Amherstburg, Ontario

Following the presentation of the RCL's "Decoration Day" ceremony at 12:15 p.m. and "Poppy" street signs unveiling at 12:45 p.m. at Cenotaph in Kings Navy Yard
Amherstburg, Ontario